

SILVER QUESTION.

It is Discussed at a Meeting of the Cabinet.

NO POWER IN THE PREMISES.

Congress Alone Can Deal With the Subject and Bring Relief—Opinion of Congressmen in Washington on the New Phase of the Silver Question—The Issue at Other Places.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Two hours were consumed by the cabinet Tuesday in discussing the new phase of the silver question and other matters receiving attention. The two conferences Monday afternoon and evening between the president and Secretary Carlisle simplified matters to some extent.

Although the discussion, it is said, took a wide range, it was necessarily brought back to one important and unmanageable point—that the executive had no power in the premises, congress alone being able to deal with measures for relief. It was plain to the cabinet that the monthly purchase of silver must be continued or else congress must be convened in special session immediately.

As the president had decided to call congress together in the early part of September to deal with the financial situation and manifested no intention of changing his stated purpose, the project of an earlier session of congress, it is understood, was dropped.

So far as the continuance of the purchase of silver billion under the Sherman law was concerned, it was pointed out that little more than two months remained before congress would convene in extra session and that during the intervening time the silver to be purchased would be only 9,000,000 ounces, a comparatively small amount in view of the previous purchases.

That the best way to deal with the question was to await the course of events for two months longer was generally agreed to, and it was with this view dominant that the meeting adjourned.

Members of congress are shy about expressing opinions and do not seem to realize the full extent of the action of India and its effect. They all agree that the price of silver will fall, but exactly how it will affect legislation they know not.

From the comparatively few congressmen in the city the following views have been obtained:

Representative Alderson of West Virginia said that the action of the Indian government greatly embarrassed the situation here. He was a free silver man, but he believed the conditions at this time would have to be considered in any legislation on the subject; that we could not legislate on the conditions of 10 or 12 years ago, and that congress would have to act in accordance with things as they find them and not upon theories. He thought a great many silver men were disposed to agree to some compromise, but the matter of detail could not yet be determined upon.

Representative Meredith of Virginia said matters were complicated for the silver men. He thought the Sherman law would be repealed, but he didn't care to guess as to the character of the substitute for it.

"This action on the part of the government of India," said Mr. Boatner of Louisiana, "throws a good many more difficulties in the way of free coinage. I have no doubt that had not this been brought about Mr. Cleveland would, during the next session of congress, have had a free coinage bill presented to him for his sanction or his veto. I can not tell, and no one can as yet, I think, how much the demonetization of silver in India will affect this situation. I have no question in my mind about the propriety of repealing the Sherman law, but we have got to have some means of supplying money for trade and commerce. The volume of gold is not sufficient and the deficiency has got to be supplied by another currency."

"I am not wedded to any particular scheme, but what the people of this country want is sufficient money for business and it has got to be supplied. A large number of silver men who voted for the repeal of the Sherman law last congress did so on their faith that at the beginning of this congress 10 per cent tax on state banks would be repealed. For my part I saw no reason why the things should not have been coupled, and I was not willing to trust to the future for action on the bank and I voted against the repeal of the Sherman law. It is not silver per se that the people want, but it is a sufficiency of sound money. I think that congress should have been called together in April, and now we should get together as soon as possible."

Representative Oats of Alabama says he is hopeful of a speedy settlement of the financial question when congress meets. He anticipates, of course, that there will be considerable trouble and that members will be inclined to hold firmly to the theories they have been presenting all along, but that the common sense of the situation is to do something to meet the conditions. He thinks the most logical and common sense thing will be to repeal the Sherman law and the law levying a 10 per cent tax on state bank currency and to provide for the free coinage of silver at such a ratio as to place it at parity with gold.

Chicago Financiers Interviewed.

CHICAGO, June 28.—The silver question, brought to such a commanding place in finance by the action of India, by stopping the free coinage of silver, continues to agitate the business men of Chicago. Clinton B. Evans, editor of The Economist, when questioned said:

"I regard the action taken by the Indian government as the most important financial event of recent years. It forces the issue at once and will compel immediate action by congress as an imperative measure of self-defense. It will enable the friends of sound currency to jump to a conclusion in legislation which they might otherwise have been a long time reaching."

N. B. Ream did not think the silver question would be as important a factor in the wheat market as may be imagined.

William T. Baker said that wheat had cut away from silver entirely in India, which was one of the reasons the Indian government had taken the action which is now commanding attention.

SLOWNESS OF THE ENGLISH PRESS.

Young Americans Can Give Them Pointers When It Comes to Hustling.

LONDON, June 28.—If any proof was required as to the astounding lack of enterprise on the part of the English press it is furnished by their apathy regarding the terrible disaster to the battleship Victoria. No story of the accident, which occurred on Thursday last, reached London until Tuesday.

Rear Admiral Markham's first message officially reporting the disaster, arrived at the admiralty office Thursday night. A sleepy clerk at the office did not think the dispatch of sufficient importance to open it, and left it lying on the desk until hundreds of inquiries from private individuals who had received personal dispatches began to be received, when he awoke to the fact that the unopened envelope might contain something that would throw some light on the subject of the inquiries.

None of the English papers had reporters at Tripoli or Beyroot, but The Times or Standard could easily have sent their reporters from Port Said or Alexandria, the former place being only 300 miles from the scene of the accident and the latter 400 miles.

On Monday, three and a half days after it was known the Victoria had foundered, The Times published a mere scrap of information. Even Monday it had only a short dispatch from Beyroot furnished by Reuter's Telegram company. The Standard published a dispatch from Port Said, the tenor of which is similar to that furnished by Reuter's Telegram company.

As soon as the fact of the disaster was known in London, the representative of the United Press telegraphed to a firm of ship agents in Beyroot making arrangements with them to furnish him with a full story to transmit to the newspapers of the United States.

Owing to the distance of Beyroot from the scene of the accident, the difficulty of getting the men of the fleet to talk, Rear Admiral Markham keeping them within strict bounds, and the slowness of the Turkish telegraph officials, much delay was experienced in getting a story to London.

The United Press report of the affair was filed in the telegraph office Sunday morning, but did not reach London until Monday night. The representative of the United Press had also made arrangements for a full story upon the arrival of any of the British fleet at Malta.

The report furnished by the United Press is by far a more complete story than anything that has yet been printed in the London papers. Reuter's Telegram company furnishes the English papers, which get news from it, a short and meager dispatch from Port Said.

The only fresh points furnished by the English papers is a most ridiculous picture of Vice Admiral Tryon sinking beneath the water and at the same time waving a telescope at Rear Admiral Markham, who stands on the bridge of the Camperdown.

Outlaws in Mexico.

ST. LOUIS, June 28.—A special to The Republic from Durango, Mexico, says J. H. Todd, a prominent American contractor of this city, while taking a morning horseback ride, accompanied by Miss Laura Moore, was stopped by five bandits on the edge of the city. Miss Moore attempted to escape, but was overtaken. Mr. Todd was severely beaten over the head and robbed of his horse and a considerable sum of money. Miss Moore was also robbed of her horse and valuable jewelry. A force of men at once started in pursuit, but up to the present none of the outlaws have been captured.

Fatal Cutting Affray.

WEST UNION, O., June 28.—A fatal cutting affray occurred at Bentonville, five miles south of this place, in which Marshal Pence was fatally injured. An altercation arose between Oscar Baldwin, a noted tough, and Pence, when the latter threw a wrench at him. They then clinched and fell. Baldwin soon arose, leaving Pence on the ground with a horrible cut in his throat.

"BROOKLYN DAY."

An Interesting Special Observation at the World's Fair.

MANY PEOPLE WERE PRESENT.

Speeches by the Mayors of Chicago and Brooklyn—Other Exercises Followed by a Banquet—Petty Thieving Going On. Other World's Fair News.

CHICAGO, June 28.—"Brooklyn day" at the fair and thousands of people from that beautiful city of homes and churches were here celebrating the event. There are a large number of sons and daughters of Brooklyn in Chicago and its vicinity, and these were reinforced by a large delegation from the city across the big bridge. Many New Yorkers also lent their fraternal countenances to the festivity of their neighbor.

BROOKLYN HEADQUARTERS.

The formal exercises opened at festival hall at 11 o'clock with a musical selection by the Brooklyn Arion society, the chorus being sung by delegations from leading musical societies to a total of 180 voices.

On the platform were lawyers, bankers, schoolteachers, mechanics and representatives of other professions and trades, together with a platoon of Brooklyn's police, and a squad of the old volunteer fire brigade.

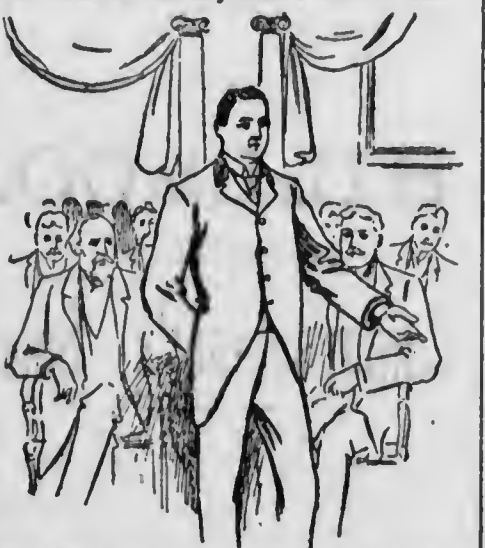

Chairman Towne made a few introductory remarks. He said that he was sure that the vast audience shared with him a feeling of gratitude for the exposition who set aside this day in honor of Brooklyn. This is the first day designated by the officials in honor of any city, and the Brooklyn people have been patriotic enough to grace the fair with their presence and lend their aid to make the day an unqualified success.

At the conclusion of Mr. Towne's address Carter Harrison, Chicago's mayor, was the next speaker.

He extended the freedom of the city to the citizens of Brooklyn, and greeted them with words of welcome.

Hon. David A. Boody, mayor of Brooklyn, replied at some length. He told his hearers the surprise he had felt at the magnitude of the fair and the opportunities it afforded for a liberal education.

The fair, he said, should be made the success financially by the people of the country that it is in every other particular. He, for one, when he returned home would spread the news that the fair was worth any man's time to see.

MAYOR BOODY OF BROOKLYN ADDRESSING THE MUSIC HALL AUDIENCE.

Welcome to the exposition grounds was expressed by Hon. Thomas B. Bryan, and the oration of the day was delivered by St. Clair McKelway, also of Brooklyn. Then there was more music, and amid cheers for the world's fair the audience dispersed.

At night the Brooklynites were given a grand banquet to officials of the fair at a local hotel.

Petty Thieving.

There is plenty of work for Captain Bonfield's secret service detectives in the administration building. Since the rooms in Pavilion C were partitioned off for newspaper and other offices, and occupied at the opening of the fair, there have been innumerable thefts in the darkness of the night, some petty, but many of valuable articles, clothing, liquors, cigars, pencils, wastepaper baskets, leather satchels belonging to visitors, umbrellas, waterproof coats, postage stamps, guide books, catalogues, invitations to various functions and souvenirs of the fair presented to members of the press.

The building is supposed to be guarded every night by the guards, but they have failed to find the leak and the little side-door through which the stolen articles have been taken with a persistence worthy of a better cause. A force of colored janitors are supposed to be at work sweeping the corridors and ices during the night, and as they have changed once but the trouble seems to be that too many keys are in circulation and the key for one office will unlock the door of any other on the floor. Complaint has been made to the council of administration and the director general and a change of system has been promised.

The keys to the offices have been changed once but the trouble seems to be that too many keys are in circulation and the key for one office will unlock the door of any other on the floor. Complaint has been made to the council of administration and the director general and a change of system has been promised.

Exhibits Nearly All in Place.

With the exception of the Brazilian, Argentine Republic and Russian sections in the artistic agricultural hall, every exhibit is in place. The sight from any part of the great double gallery is a most attractive one and Chief Buchanan has been congratulated upon the splendid showing made in his department.

THE OLD CROSSING STORY.

Two Children Killed in a Buggy and Another Fatally Injured.

CHICAGO, June 28.—An incoming milk train on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, while crossing Millard avenue crushed the life out of two children, badly injured their mother, and fatally wounded a 18-year-old girl. The four persons were in a buggy driving to the city.

James Webster, the gateman at Millard avenue, has been arrested as responsible for the frightful occurrence.

The killed are: Fred W. Ingholsen, 6 years old; Gracie Ingholsen, 5 months old.

The injured are: Mrs. Flora Ingholsen, mother of the above, bruised about the head and spinal injuries; Maggie Slavin, 13 years old, skull fractured.

PEPPERING THE PHILIPPINES.

A Rebellious Sultan and Eighty of His Men Cut Down.

MADRID, June 28.—Advices from Manila show that a desperate fight has occurred on the island of Mindanao, the second largest of the Philippine group. A force of 6,000 rebellious natives under the leadership of their sultan made an attack upon Fort Munggan, on Mindanao. The Spanish garrison succeeded in repulsing the natives after a stubborn, contested fight. The natives lost 87 killed, including the sultan, while 300 of their number were wounded. The Spanish loss, if any, is not stated.

Epworth League Conference.

CLEVELAND, June 28.—The first international conference of the Epworth league began at Music Hall on Thursday. By that day it is expected that fully 10,000 leaguers will have gathered, representing over a million members. The society had its birth in this city only four years ago, and its marvelous growth since that time has been unprecedented, until it now reaches out to every quarter of the earth. Fifteen foreign nations, or widely separated colonies, besides Canada, will send delegates. They will come from India, Mexico, Norway, Japan, Italy, Chili, Bulgaria and New Zealand. Governor McKinley will deliver the address of welcome at the opening session.

Money Destroyed.

NEW ORLEANS, June 28.—When one of the employees of the United States mint opened the big vault of that institution he was rendered almost completely helpless and unconscious by a rush of poisonous air from within the tight structure. An electric lamp had burst and the carbon had fallen to the cemented floor, where it had remained ignited in a smoldering condition until the atmosphere became exhausted. About $10,000 in paper money was either destroyed or rendered useless.

Double Tragedy.

OTTAWA, O., June 28.—A terrible tragedy was enacted a few miles west of this city. Jacob L. Lyons and his family lived in a comfortable home in Greensburg township, this county. Being of a very nervous temperament Lyons was easily excited. He and his wife had a dispute over a trivial matter. He flew into a passion and shot her, then, turning the gun, shot himself. His wife is still alive, but it is thought will not recover. They leave a small family.

VETERANS' REUNION.

Annual Meeting of the Army of the Potomac

IN FANEUIL HALL IN BOSTON.

The Attendance Was Large With Many Noted Veterans Present—Election of Officers—General Miles Re-Elected President—Resolutions Adopted.

Boston, June 28.—The annual meeting of the Society of the Army of the Potomac was held in Faneuil hall. The attendance was large, with many noted men among the veterans. While the members were assembling a salute was fired by Battery A on the commons. General Horace Porter, the president of the association, was given a hearty reception as he entered the hall.

Before the business meeting of the society came the various corps meetings, which were held in the armory of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery.

Following the corps meetings the annual meeting of the entire association was called to order by General Horace Porter. He made no formal speech. The next business was the selecting of a place for the next annual meeting, and Concord, N. H., was chosen.

The treasurer's report showed a total of $1,322 in receipts and $1,322 in expenditures. It was voted that the life membership fee be reduced from $20 to $10.

On motion of General Cogswell a committee of six representing the Eleventh and Twelfth corps was appointed to co-operate with the Chicamunga Battlefield association, locating the lines of the battles of Lookout Mountain and Missionary Ridge. The committee is as follows: Eleventh corps, General O. O. Howard, Major E. O. Graves, Colonel F. C. Winkley; Twelfth, General H. W. Slocum, General William Cogswell, Colonel E. A. Curran.

The election of officers followed. There were three nominations for president, General Nelson H. Miles, U. S. A.; General Calvin E. Pratt and Oliver O. Howard. The names of the two latter were withdrawn, and General Miles was elected by the casting of one ballot by the secretary.

Horatio King of Brooklyn was chosen secretary, and Colonel Samuel Truesdell of New York treasurer.

General George H. Sharp was chosen corresponding secretary. The following resolutions, so amended as to recommend that the United States government purchase the Gettysburg field and set it apart as a public park, was adopted:

RESOLVED, That this society has learned with deep indignation that a private organization has dared to desecrate the field of Gettysburg, consecrated by the blood of so many of its comrades, and does hereby record its solemn protest against such vandalism and to call upon those who may be in authority to arrest it.

After passing the usual vote of thanks, the meeting adjourned and the members went for a sail and luncheon down the harbor as the guests of the city of Boston.

BUSINESS BLOCK BURNED.

Fire Gets Beyond Control of the Village's Fire Department.

UNION CITY, Ind., June 28.—Fire swept away one block of the central portion of the city. The blaze started in the livery barn of Adolph Adams, and had gotten away beyond control before the local fire department, a voluntary organization, got in working trim.

WALL STREET RESPONSIBLE.

Says the Business Register of Chicago: "The failure of small banks here, and throughout the country, continues and in nearly every instance coming under our observation these banking institutions could have easily weathered the storm if the syndicate banks had cared to see them continue business. But they were not of the favored household, and while the suspended institutions were, in nearly every instance, conducted in a conservative way, when the squeezing process was applied they had to close, for they could not realize on their outstanding assets. Money was hoarded in the big banks and not obtainable; no matter how strong the appeal. It is the policy of the syndicate banks to make money scarce. They are withholding it not only from the smaller banking institutions to force them out, but many industrial enterprises are being forced to suspend or curtail their output.

"Accommodations are being denied to many of the most solid industrial institutions of the country, some of which have recently been compelled to assign or to lay off hundreds of their employees, not because there is any lack of orders, or lack of work, but because of a lack of money, or, to speak with absolute exactness, a fictitious money famine.

"It is the desire of the syndicate banks that money shall be considered close, as it is their intention to compel that condition so that when they let a dollar go they may command what they will for it—but they prefer to keep it out of circulation to dominate the fiscal policy of the country. They want to force the government to issue bonds and they have conspired to force the measure. They care nothing for the financial and industrial ruin they are creating, for they expect to reap a rich harvest from it.

"It is the Italian hand of Wall street and its alien principals in Europe that direct the movement. It is the favored beneficiaries of a vicious system that permits the money barons to dictate terms with widespread financial depression, paralyzed industries, and great suffering if the terms are not complied with. All the natural conditions give the lie to the assertion that there is any necessity for a financial panic and yet they seek to precipitate it."

The official report of the Bureau of Admissions shows that 169,639 people attended the World's Fair Saturday, and 88,265 attended Sunday. The admissions Monday were 113,735. There's not much comfort in the Sunday figures for the directors.

An editorial from the Chicago Business Register on the present "stringency in the money market" is published elsewhere. The Register claims that Wall street has brought about all the trouble—that not "the scarcity of money" but "the power of money" is at the bottom of the evil. One instance is noted by the Register where a Chicago party offered a "syndicate" bank government bonds as security for a loan—50 per cent. more bonds than the amount he wanted—but the bank refused to let him have the cash.

THE LEGISLATURE.

Second-Class City Charter Passed by the House—After Investment Companies.

In the House Tuesday the Senate joint resolution appropriating $100 for each of the clergymen of Frankfort, for services as Legislative chaplains, was favorably reported.

The bill directed against the numerical bond companies and investment associations, denominated as frauds and swindlers, by the State Insurance Commissioner, was discussed for a time until further consideration was postponed by the second class city charter bill coming on as a special order.

The charter as passed by the Senate makes the Auditor elective by the Common Council, instead of by the people. All other municipal officers are elected by a popular vote. There was no debate over the measure, and the amended substitute was adopted by yeas 61, nays nothing.

The Anti-Bond Investment Commission bill was again taken up and an amendment was adopted requiring all such companies and corporations to file with the Insurance Commissioner its certificate accepting the terms of all laws of this State applicable to insurance companies and to come under the direction and control of the Insurance Department of the State and shall pay the said department 15 per cent. of gross receipts, to be held by the Commissioner as a guarantee safety fund for the redemption of the bonds.

The House concurred in the Senate resolution providing for a committee of six to certify the General Statutes, and refused to limit the time to sixty days.

McDonald-Wilson.

On last Sunday evening, a large number of relatives and friends gathered at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Mace Wilson, of Sand Hill, to witness the marriage of their only single daughter, Miss Emma, Mr. J. W. McDonald. Promptly at 5 o'clock, the appointed time, and as the organ pealed forth the melodious strains of the wedding march, the happy couple, preceded by Mr. and Mrs. E. M. McDonald, took their stand amid a profusion of flowers and evergreens. Here they were made husband and wife, the nuptial ceremony being pronounced by Rev. A. E. Zeigler, pastor of the Christian Church of that place.

After congratulations the way was led to the dining hall, where an elegant supper was served.

The bride was attired in a becoming gown of gray silk, and carried Bride roses. The groom wore the conventional black.

They were received at the home of the groom Monday, where an elegant dinner was served in the evening, after which they took the 5 o'clock train for Cincinnati, and from there to Chicago, where they will spend a short time. They received a number of handsome and useful presents. May they live a long and useful life, and may their path be ever strewn with gladness and flowers is the wish of the writer. UNDINE.

Commencement Exercises at the Academy of the Visitation.

A Class of Three Awarded Diplomas. Closing Exercises Witnessed by a Large Crowd.

The commencement exercises of the Academy of St. Francis de Sales took place at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning. The spacious hall of the institute was literally packed with the friends and relatives of the pupils long before the hour for commencement arrived.

The exercises opened with a "Marche Militaire" by the Visitation Mandolin Club, and to its martial strains the pupils of the academy entered and took their places. The playing of the club was a notable feature of the occasion later on in the programme; their rendition of the "Reminiscences of Faust" gave opportunities for the display of their excellence of drill and shading.

The address to Rt. Rev. C. P. Maes, was a masterful composition from the pen of Miss Jeannette B. Newell, the Valedictorian of the class of '93, and was creditably delivered by Miss Ella Dugan.

The graduates of '93 were Miss Mary Thomas Cox, Miss Agnes Marie Dodson and Miss Jeannette B. Newell. The essay of Miss Dodson was entitled "Seed Time and Harvest" and was a splendid effort, abounding in many fine points. Her patriotic utterances in reference to Columbus and our own Washington were especially good and to the point.

Miss Cox's paper was on the "Traces of a Hand Divine." In well turned sentences, and in many a lofty flight, the essayist drew from the heavens, the earth and the depths of the sea the incontestable proof of the traces of a Master's hand, from the least to the greatest of all things earthly.

The valedictory of Miss Jeannette Newell was a masterpiece of its kind and its graceful delivery was characterized by such earnestness upon the part of the speaker as to hold the large audience spell bound to its conclusion. Standing upon the threshold of a new era of life, her query of "How will it be?" possessed a world of meaning and the concluding vale came all too soon.

The gold graduating medals were presented by the Rev. J. B. Glorieux.

Charles E. McKennon.

Charley McKennon had a wide circle of friends in this city and they will all regret to learn the sad news of his death. He passed away Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at his home in Hartwell, a suburb of Cincinnati. He had been in failing health for a year or so, and was recently under treatment at the Good Samaritan Hospital. Consumption was the cause of his death.

Deceased was about thirty-five years of age. He was a resident of Maysville for several years, and was a member of DeKalb Lodge No. 12, I. O. O. F. His wife survives him. The remains will be interred at Lebanon, O.

Hale versus Headley.

Major Hale, State Treasurer, published a card yesterday morning in reply to Secretary of State Headley's card, which between the lines invites a personal difficulty. Major Hale says that ever since the publication of his card he has been in the city of Frankfort and in his office, where Secretary Headley would have found him, and says he can be seen at any time. He says Secretary Headley should have demanded a retraction in person instead of going into print. The end is not yet, and many think an encounter will result.

Cheap Rate to Chicago.

JUDGE PRYOR, of New York, during the trial of a case recently refused to instruct the jurors not to read newspapers. He held that as intelligent men they ought to read the daily journals. The Judge's theory is that a man who can not be trusted to read newspapers hasn't sense enough to justly weigh testimony.

Mr. E. L. KINNEMAN, who managed Washington Opera House the past year, has leased three opera houses in Pennsylvania, one at Middletown, one at Sharon and one at Chambersburg, which he will have charge of next season. He will also probably remain in charge of the house in this city. He has had many years of experience as manager and has demonstrated that he is thoroughly "up" in the business. The many friends he has made in Maysville wish him success in his new venture.

WALTER BURKLEY was sent to the penitentiary two years ago from Madison County for horse-stealing. His term expired Monday. As he was leaving, the Warden noticed something in his pockets, and a search brought to light a full "kit" of burglar's tools. Burkley stands a good show for another term.

BIG DAMAGES CLAIMED.

Mrs. C. A. Daniels Sues Marshal Fitzgerald and Constable Dawson For $10,000.

Mrs. C. A. Daniels, of Ashland, filed suit in the Circuit Court yesterday against Marshal E. W. Fitzgerald and Constable W. B. Dawson for $10,000 damages. Their bondsmen, Messrs. William Fitzgerald, Henry J. Shea, George T. Wood and George Collier, are also made defendants.

Details of the affair resulting in the suit were published by the BULLETIN last week. An insurance agent stopping at the St. James Hotel had some money stolen, and placed the case in the hands of Messrs. Fitzgerald and Dawson.

Mrs. Daniels, who was also stopping at the hotel, was suspected, and the officers searched her and her room.

She claims in her petition that she was "wrongfully and unlawfully and with force and arms, insulted, wronged, abused and assaulted" by the officers; that they unlawfully and with force caused her to disrobe herself, and laid hands upon her and took liberties with her person, to her great shame, grief and damage. She says she was put to great shame and scandal, that her modesty was outraged, and her rights as a respectable, modest and virtuous woman were grossly and flagrantly violated and abused.

Mr. A. A. Wadsworth, of this city, and Mr. Wm. Poage, of Ashland, are the plaintiff's attorneys.

BURNS-SHEA NUPTIALS.

The Happy Culmination of Several Years' Courtship—Wedded at St. Patrick's.

As had been previously announced by handsomely engraved cards, the marriage of Mr. John J. Burns, of Chicago, and Miss Laura A. Shea, of this city, took place at St. Patrick's Church this morning at 8:30 o'clock, Rev. Father Donnelly officiating.

The bridal party entered the church while the accomplished Miss Helena Hynes played the wedding march. After the marriage ceremonies had been performed, mass was celebrated. The altars were handsomely decorated and the church was crowded with friends of the contracting parties.

The bride is a most estimable young lady, of pleasant manners and address, and a general favorite among her large circle of friends. She was attired in a white silk, with pearl and lace trimmings; bride's veil and carried a bouquet of Bride roses. Always charming, the bride as attired was a perfect picture.

The groom was attired in the conventional black. He was born and reared in this city but for several years has been connected with a large drug house in Chicago. His many noble qualities of both head and heart stamp him as a gentleman in every sense of the word, and he is held in the highest esteem by all his acquaintances.

The ushers were Messrs. Henry J. Shea, brother of the bride, William Fitzgerald, of Lima, Ohio, John Butler, of Covington, and Martin A. O'Hare, of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Burns left on the 10 a. m. train and will spend the day in Covington with his mother and sisters where there will be a reception given in their honor, and later in the evening they will leave for Chicago, their future home.

The presents received by the happy couple were very numerous and handsome.

The BULLETIN joins with a host of warm friends in wishing the newly married couple a happy and prosperous journey through life.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.
